

The term 'grouped' means observations of the same event by different sites were lumped together and counted as one.